GEORGE N. MOODY TOPS BOSTON PIN RECORD WITH 191

Bowls Astonishing Total for Middlesex Sportsmen Against Wellesley.

George N. Moody, 17 Davis avenue, broke the alley record for Boston pins at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association clubhouse in a match in the Newton League last week, bowling against Maugus of Wellesley. At the same time he smashed the league single string record when he bowled the astonishing total of 191.

Mr. Moody was bowling in anchor position. His remarkable string of spares and strikes after starting with an open first box drew the plaudits of his opponents and both teams were pulling for him in the last frames.

Arlington Artist Now Exhibiting at Library

An exhibition of landscape and portraits of children by Vitalie Z. Terletzky, now in his second week at the Robbins Library, is gaining increased interest.

Sponsored by the Arlington Woman's Club, it is of special interest to local people to see their environment through the eyes of an artist who has found beauty all about this town.

In such of his paintings as "Mentomy Rocks Park," "Spring on the Cutter Farm," "The Footbridge" and "Winter Road," Mr. Terletzky has interpreted a wide variety of moods and seasons in his home town.

His portraits of children have aroused much favorable comment. The exhibition will continue through the month.

HARRIS TO RUN FOR SELECTMAN

In view of a widespread demand that he run for Selectman in the coming election, George A. Harris, of 196 Cedar avenue, tells the Advocate that it is his civic duty to announce his candidacy for that office.

Mr. Harris is 34 years old and has been a resident and taxpayer in Arlington for twelve years. He is married to an Arlington girl and is the father of two children.

Mr. Harris states that a great many citizens of Arlington have approached him, over a long period, urging him to seek election. He states that these petitioners, living in all sections of the town, have earnestly expressed their belief in his fitness for the office. They have said, in part, "You have been unselfishly active in town matters for years, and your newspaper training will be a great asset in administrative work. You seem to be a fellow who knows what is going on in Arlington, and you are not afraid to stand firmly by your convictions. We need your straightforward type in our town government."

James Tierney of 569 Summer street and Albert Keefe of Waltham found the unconscious form of Mrs. Mabel Grant of 32 Dudley street at the foot of hospital hill late Monday afternoon, and believing her to be the victim of a hit-and-run driver, they carried her up the hill to the hospital. And although examination showed that she had merely fainted, Mrs. Grant is duly grateful to the two Samaritans. Monday, it will be remembered, was a cold day.

U. S. Can Lead World From Chaos Says Forum Speaker

The old high school hall should have been filled Sunday afternoon, when Professor J. Anton de Haas gave a brilliant discourse on world affairs. About fifty people faced Joseph S. Keating, superintendent of schools, who introduced the professor, saying, "With world conditions as they are today, it behooves us to become well informed. I present one who speaks with authority."

"The blackest year we have ever known is 1938, which saw the destruction of a great ideal. Nations cannot exist without recognizing mutual rights. In 1938, might destroyed that ideal," said de Haas, who then outlined the march of might by Japan; Germany and Italy, making the Munich Pact the logical conclusion—a foundation not for peace but for a bigger war. Professor de Haas found no excuse for Chamberlain, who could have called Hitler's bluff.

"What did that pact do to us?" the speaker demanded. "It launched us on a tremendous rearmament program." This, he claims, will cause a surface prosperity such as the Totalitarian states have. A vivid picture of true Germany was drawn, and Hitler's method of stirring up strife among minorities, of his scare word 'Com-

Mrs. Russell Observes Ninety-Third Birthday

Mrs. Louisa S. Russell of 26 Higgins street celebrated her ninety-third birthday on the thirteenth of this month. Friends, neighbors and members of the family all tendered their congratulations to Mrs. Russell on that happy occasion.

Mrs. Russell has been a subscriber to the Advocate for more than fifty years, and we are assured that she still reads every issue of the paper.

Work on a major project to re-landscape the park area laying between Robbins Library and Robbins Memorial Town Hall was started last Friday, when the sod was first broken. Since then cold weather has retarded the work, but it will go forward with the first thaw.

Olmsted Brothers, landscape architects of Brookline, have been commissioned to plan and oversee the work by the agent of Miss Ida Robbins, last surviving trustee of a private fund set aside many years ago for just such a purpose.

The Arlington board of selectmen, having approved the work, expected to make a statement giving details of the plans this week but have been prevented from doing so because neither the agent nor Mr. Olmsted was available. The statement, illustrated with pictures, will, however, be forthcoming next week.

Wellesley Players Bring Knockout Show to F. of D. Tomorrow

The Wellesley Players will present their contribution to the annual exchange of plays between their organization and the Arlington Friends of the Drama at the latter's clubhouse on Maple street on Friday (tomorrow) and Saturday evenings.

The play, the delightful "Is Zat So?", has an interesting history. It was written by two unemployed actors, James Gleason and Richard Tabor, who sitting idly in that famed rendezvous of actors, the Lambs' Club, discussing plays and players, found that they agreed on one thing: that the perfect role is one the actor writes for himself. Immediately they set to work writing roles for themselves and the result was "Is Zat So?" which ran for more than 500 performances in New York and had long runs in Boston and Chicago. The play is full of fun and even fuller of action even to the point of a two-round boxing match that from a dramatic point of view is a "technical knockout."

George Glendinning is directing the following cast (most of whom will be remembered from previous Wellesley shows in Arlington): Elmer Stimet, Albert J. T. Woll, Harold Trefethen, Louise Stewart, Eleanor McNamara, Deane Sealy, Marguerite Rowe, Milton Grubbs, Florence Hill, James H. Duffin, Holt Monaghan, James Norcross, Martha Hanlon, and Ernest L. Root.

Home Department to Feature Art Course in Adult Education

In connection with the Adult Education classes starting Monday, January 23, at the High School, under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club, special attention is called to the art lectures.

A departure from custom is noted this year in the presentation of three of the lectures. These are to be on the general theme of the home and are to be from three different points of view. Miss Esther Wyman will tell about landscaping the home on February 2. Harold Knight on February 9 will discuss the home from the point of view of an architect and on the fourteenth Donald Seely will tell how to decorate the home.

Fortnightly Club Has Children's Party

A delightful party for the children of Arlington Fortnightly Club members was held recently at Junior High School East when the children, ranging from 2 1/2 years to 15 years were given opportunities to display their talents and entertain their guests. The program included the following:

Invitation, Robert Bullock; welcome, Nancy Kelley; crowning, Norma La Fond; reading, Mary Abner; dance, Jean O'Neill; song, Rosalie Lamothe; poem, Anne Tarbox; reading, Pauline Murphy; dance, Alma Barry; dance, Jean Marie Ryan; reading, Madalyn Glendon; dance, Betty Prout; vocal duet, Althea Coyne and Mary Martin; reading, Norine Casey; oscarina solo and saxophone, Jean Horrigan; dance, Margie Duffy; reading, Queenie Parigian; piano accordion and saxophone, Ann Horrigan and Jean Horrigan; reading, Peggy O'Neill.

After these children charmed the audience with their numbers, a chorus of children's voices sang beautifully with a most effective lighting arrangement of soft blue tones.

Intermission followed, during which Miss Virginia Coyne and Eleanor Byrne played a piano and violin duet, and Althea and Virginia Coyne rendered a piano duet.

Refreshments were served by ladies on the committee.

Selectman George Lowe greeted the audience and spoke suitably to the children, wishing them the season's good cheer.

Mrs. Joseph A. Smith was chairman for the evening, assisted by a large committee, comprised of mothers of the children taking part in the performance.

Mrs. Russell P. Wise of this town was registered recently at the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

Favorable Comparison

"Excursion" is a nostalgic play with very little plot and a whole lot of philosophy and character study. We saw the play last summer as produced by the professional South Shore Players at Cohasset, and are right here to say now that the high school production compared very favorably with that of the summer theatre, except in mechanical details like pulling the same rope to sound both the ship's bell and the whistle, allowing the whistle to sound once before the actor could reach the valve rope again after he had released it, having the coast guard cutter's searchlight come from one direction and the hailing voice of its commander from the opposite, and a few more things like that which brought the inevitable laughter in the wrong places.

On the other hand, the characterizations of the principals were way up to standard, there were no stage waits, and the dialogue, very difficult in spots with thirty or more on the stage at once and all talking at practically the same time, went off with meritorious precision.

One Day of Happiness

The plot was the story of the "S. S. Happiness" on her last excursion under Captain Rich, who had made the trip to Coney Island and back for the past thirty years. The passengers represented a cross-section of the life in the great city, all struggling to find one day of happiness in the hum-drum week and all returning at night, sad and, in the words of Captain Rich, "cheated."

The captain, too, feels cheated, because after a life-time of dreaming and trying to give his passengers happiness, he knows that he has failed, and now after thirty years in the service his sound little ship is going to be turned into a garbage scow. His brother Jonathan, a retired deep water captain, is a man of another stamp. Though a bit crack-brained, he is nevertheless a man of action. He tells of a beautiful uninhabited isle of Eden in the Caribbean, where all the passengers can find the happiness for which they are searching. With subtle suggestion he finally persuades the captain to head his ship out to sea instead of returning to New York.

After much speech-making, the captain and all the passengers except Red Magoon, the trouble-maker, are resolved to pull up stakes and take their chances on starting anew. So they start down the coast with a hot-dog-dizzy sailor at the wheel.

Apprehended

But they don't get far. After several hours of steady steaming, the "Happiness" is apprehended by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter "Cayuga" and turned back to port by her commander. The woe of Captain Rich is complete when he hears the radio announcer brand him as an outlaw and finds that because of the indisposition of the man at the wheel his ship has been steaming in circles, never leaving the harbor after all.

All ends happily, however, when the little ship, thought to be lost, is welcomed home by all the harbor whistles, everyone decides to begin life anew anyway, and the ship's owner relents and announces that the S. S. Happiness will be on the Coney Island run again next year with Captain Rich in command.

The cast of thirty-three was studied with highlights, but of course Irving Brown as Captain Rich had the leading role, and he made the best of it, playing his part with maturity, sincerity and conviction. His rip-roaring brother, Jonathan, the old Yarmouthport sea dog, was well given perfectly played by Herbert Greeley, whose characterization was one of the most amusing in the production. However, we feel that the top prize for character work should go to Helen Basmajian for her work as the distracted Jewish Her every gesture and voice inflection was perfect.

Nicely Drawn

Other characters very nicely drawn were played by Priscilla Estabrook, Louise Miller and Constance Wilshire, who represented three distinct social strata of a great department store. As the jitterbug basement worker, Miss Wilshire was cute and pert, while Miss Estabrook's portrayal of the smart fifth floor girl was one of the most convincing in the production. Miss Miller as the department store's social tops, first floor rear, showed the makings of a very fine actress. Her voice is the most professional-sounding we have heard in a high school play in some years.

As the ship owner's daughter, Jean Mark had less to do this year than in her pinch-hit role of 1938, but she had enough to show that she is still improving. Possessing the rare combination of beauty and intelligence, Miss Mark is another big girl who can, if she chooses, go out and do bigger things. Richard Ward was Miss Mark's brother in the play, and they certainly did make a handsome pair. Mr. Ward too made a very fine impression, playing his part with simplicity and sincerity.

Lost Nothing

Since there were thirty-three in the cast, it would be both tedious and impractical to comment on the performance of every individual in the cast, but it would be hardly fair to omit that of Paul Dwinell as hard-boiled Red Magoon. His language and his clandestine relationship with "Daisy," very capably enacted by Elaine Jackson, were cleaned up some from the original script, but so good was Mr. Dwinell's work that the character lost nothing by the necessary changes.

Other excellent performances were given by George MacGillivray as the not-so-able-bodied-seaman; Frederick Champelovier, the decrepit old deck hand; Harry Hansen as the big-voiced hawker; Mildred Zwicker the harassed mother of Mike, the imp of Satan, vigorously played by George Harvender, who managed to overcome the handicap of a bass voice to go with his reputed twelve years; Robert Kelley, very perfect as the cigar-smoking press agent; James Hagen, who managed to be handsome and likeable in spite of his communistic tendencies; Terry Shuman, as the timid little Jew, who turns militant in his search for happiness; Catherine Iaconis, the frantically unhappy little girl; and practically every other character in the show, even down to the smallest of bits.

Clever Sets

There were seven scenes in the production and the author was most inconsiderate in making it necessary to alternate from the wheel house to the deck between each of the three acts and once during the first and second acts, twice in the third. The high school stage crew very cleverly got around that difficulty, however, by building the wheel house set so that it was necessary only to reverse it to get the other set. The result was most effective, though it must be confessed that we missed the Coney Island shore lights called for in the script.

There was a time when the high school orchestra could hardly have been said to add to the enjoyment of any performance. But that indictment has been less and less true of recent years. Saturday night the intra-act concerts by the orchestra under the direction of Hassler Einzig, were not only interesting but truly delightful. Mr. Einzig also led the orchestra in incidental music during the last act.

The elaborate printed program gave credit to Nubar Boghosian, David Wilfert and Richard Brawley for the scenery and to Constance Tortorici, Marcia Weatherill and Paul Jones for the many and unusual properties. The records played for sound effects were by courtesy of Gahm & Erickson.

The officers of the Arlington High School Dramatic Club are as follows: Richard Ward, president; Herbert Greeley, vice-president; Marcia Weatherill, secretary; Richard Kolegue, treasurer; Malcolm Beers, chairman of tickets; Paul Jones, chairman of advertising; John McClelland and Robert Davis, chairmen of program; Ella Mackenzie, chairman of candy committee; Robert Benshimol, ticket-taker and chairman of ushers. The faculty assistants were Arthur E. Robinson, business manager; W. Ray Burke, treasurer; Miss Gladys Porter, dramatic director; Laurence P. Arthur, printing; Hassler Einzig, music; Carl T. Witherell, director of ushers.

The many friends of Mrs. Ernest E. Washburn of 52 Crescent Hill avenue are expecting her home from the Osteopathic Hospital, the end of this week, as she is feeling much better.

Mrs. Wyman Gives Talk On Composer Walter Howe

Highlights in the life and musical career of the contemporary American composer, Walter Howe, were given by Mrs. J. Clark Wyman at the January meeting of Menotomy Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Wyman, herself a poet of note, traced the long and varied career of Mr. Howe from his early years in Worcester to the present time. Mr. Howe now holds the position of musical director of Abbott Academy in Andover, organist and choir director of the First Baptist church, Arlington, conductor of the Worcester Philharmonic Orchestra, and during the two summer months he holds the position of choir director at Lake Chautauque, New York.

Mrs. Wyman closed her address with the presentation of a musical program made up entirely of Mr. Howe's compositions, including a vocal solo by Miss Thelma Sorensen, trio by Miss Caroline D. Higgins, Mrs. Marcus L. Sorensen and Thelma Sorensen, Mrs. Wyman accompanying on the piano. She also presented two piano selections by Thelma Sorensen and Phyllis Wyman.

Miss Eleanor Greenwood of Pepperell was a speaker at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Philip Eberhardt, 248 Gray street. Miss Greenwood is state chairman of the committee on the advancement of American music, a new committee which was created by act of the Continental Congress in April 1938. Its aim is to give the music of American composers its rightful place beside the music of the rest of the world. The work of American composers is worthy of being heard, and only through its being heard will the United States be able to preserve the work of her composers for the future.

Hostesses for the afternoon were, Mrs. Charles F. Atwood, Mrs. J. Albert Robinson and Mrs. Arthur E. Gilmour.

SPINNER GETS SEASON'S 1st SHUT-OUT AGAINST MEDFORD

Red and Gray Now Full Game in League Lead. Medford Presses All the Way, but Local Defense Proves Impregnable.

The Arlington High hockey team continued undefeated in its campaign for the Greater Boston crown last Saturday afternoon by shutting out a surprisingly strong Medford sextet, 1-0, at the Arena. We predicted a close battle but did not think the victory margin would be so small. Coach Collins strengthened his club considerably during the past week by shifting defenseman Danny Crowley to the front ranks, and this accounts for his club's good showing. Previously Crowley had been used in an iron man role but Saturday he was given his rest along with the other Medford men. Hence Dan was able to skate at top speed all the time and only some fine work by the local defense kept him from scoring. This victory gave the charges of Charlie Downs a full game advantage over Melrose who took over second spot by knocking over the fast skating Stoneham club, 3-1.

The lone tally came at 9:13 in the first period on a very pretty play. Capt. Billy Lyons picked the puck up near the Arlington blue line and skated over to his right wing boards. He stickhandled by one defender and passed to Bobby Sanders, who fired a hard shot from about twenty-five feet out. The rubber caromed off goalie Billy Duncan's pads onto the stick of Eddie Burns who batted the disc into the drapes for the winning marker. Sanders drew an assist on the play. Arlington held a slight advantage in the play throughout the rest of the period, but the warriors from Medford nearly knotted up the count at the ten minute mark. Joe Riley took the puck at the Arlington blue line and swooped in on the unprotected Johnny Spinner. However, genial John dove to the ice and took the shot on the chest for a very neat save.

Action in the second stanza was mostly between the two blue lines. Medford held their own against the Red and Gray battlers and neither team could make much progress. As a matter of fact, neither goaltender had any extremely hard shots to stop. Capt. Bill Lyons, Lindy Blanchard, and Spinner were more difficult to penetrate than the rock of Gibraltar.

However, during the final twelve minutes the advantage was decidedly with Medford. Several times the invading front line came into the local scoring region and had clean shots at Spinner. The latter was really superb. We haven't seen a high school goalie do as neat a job yet this year. Moreover the hard rushing lads in blue and white sometimes skated right into the cage knocking Johnny off his pins, but the netminder kept his head and went on to score a much deserved shut-out.

If you remember correctly, we predicted a no score game for Spinner in last week's issue. Twice Crowley got the jump on four of the locals and came in with only Lyons and Spinner to whip. Billy executed two of the sweetest sweep checks we have ever seen. Sometimes the whole Medford club would break fast and have only the two defensemen and the netminder to pass but our boys were up to everything and surely deserved this victory.

Although the score was small, the win was impressive. It is our opinion that the Arlington lines were not functioning as well as usual, but the defense and Spinner were superb. This combine should be given serious consideration for the All Greater Boston team.

High School Teams Facing Stiff Fights

The first place Arlington High puck-chasers, who have high hopes of remaining on their roost, face another stiff test Saturday. They have reached the halfway mark in the schedule and are still undefeated. This week's opposition is provided by the brawny Newton sextet. The high school will be out to make up for that defeat suffered by the hoopen only five days ago. The scene of this battle is the Boston Garden and the time will be approximately 3:30. Arlington having last ice. The Newton club is still burning from that defeat at the hands of the cellar-dwelling Rindge outfit and they hope to take it out on Arlington. Coach Downs will keep his lineup intact and can just hope that Goalie Johnny Spinner will continue to perform with such excellence in the local drapes. His marvelous work alone saved the leaders from a defeat by the Medford troop. We feel that the front lines will show an improvement in their play but as long as the team wins, who cares?

Basketball
The courtmen of Bill Lowder face another busy week, beginning tomorrow evening at the new auditorium. The Rindge Tech quintet comes here to play a league battle and should enter the fray as the underdog. The same Newton club which whipped the locals on Tuesday drubbed the Technicians, 29-13 about ten days ago. This comparison alone points toward a victory for the lads in the red satin pants. Moreover, Thomas should be back in the lineup and his presence should strengthen the outfit. The team must win if they have any hope whatsoever of winning the league title. Lowder has been using different combinations every day, so we cannot tell who will start at what position. On next Tuesday afternoon the team travels over to Waltham. The contest gets underway at 3:00 o'clock and reports have it that the Watch City has a very strong group. This game too will count in the league race.

LOCALS CONTINUE SWEEP OVER FIGHTING MELROSE

A. H. S. Five Score Ding-Dong Victory Here, 26-16, with Lead Alternating Rapidly in Third Period. Coach Lowder's Boys Relentless in Final Stanza.

The Arlington High School representatives completed a clean sweep over the competitors from Melrose by defeating the basketball team, 26-16, last Friday evening at the High School gym. A good-sized audience gathered for this spectacle, the proceeds from which are going to the infantile paralysis drive. The contest was a thrilling one to witness because the lead changed hands so many times. Until the very end of the first half neither club could gain more than a one-point advantage.

From the opening jump play was as fast as any we have seen this season. The battle had all the earmarks of turning out to be a high scoring affair but lady luck was against both clubs. Perhaps the date, (Friday the 13th) had something to do with it, but the sphere just would not seem to drop through the hoop.

The locals hopped into the lead after seconds of play when Twink Glennon pushed in a shot from under the basket. Russ Isner chalked up another point from the foul line and Melrose began to find its bearings. Bill Leyland scored on a very effective play and Arlington was ahead by one point. Another Leyland basket, this time a high archer from the side, gave the same margin to the invaders. Moments before the initial period came to a close Russ Isner, who appeared to have found his scoring ability, sank a beautiful shot from about center court. The ball never even touched the rim, so perfectly was it aimed. This concluded all the tallying for the eight minutes and Coach Lowder's boys were out in front, 5-4.

The second quarter provided some good floor work and had the crowd on their toes because of the scoring. Bridgewater counted for Melrose, but Billy Whitney dropped a lovely one-hander to put the local quintet back in the lead. However, Mr. Hartigan took care of the situation for the losers by sinking a push shot and putting Melrose out in front again. George Mernick was there for Lowder, though, and dribbled in from the side to score and reverse the margin. Two free throws, one by Isner and the other by Hughes, completed the scoring for the half and the board read Arlington 11, Melrose 8.

Both clubs started the second half with renewed pep and the action continued at a hot pace. Arlington had a bit the better of the scoring and managed to increase their advantage to five points. After passing the ball around for a couple of minutes the locals shook Glennon loose and the latter scored from the right side. Macfarlane was awarded two free tosses when some gray-shirted lad touched his arm as he was attempting to get away his shot. He only batted five hundred, however, and the count was Arlington 13, Melrose 9. George Mernick added two more points to this total and Twink Glennon swished a foul shot. Both teams had hard luck on their attempts until seconds before the stanza was over, when Art Sheridan netted a beauty from just outside the foul line.

During the final period Coach Lowder's boys really began to show their superiority. Glennon and Mernick had each increased the local score by two before a minute of play had been completed. Again Macfarlane received a couple of free throws and again he dropped one of them. Russ Isner intercepted a Melrose pass and swooped in to set up Bill Whitney. The latter's shot was perfect and the locals were clicking on all cylinders. Glennon and Isner dropped one-pointers and the losers retaliated with two baskets. Isner completed the evening's work by looping in a high shot from the sideline. Final—Arlington 26, Melrose 16.

Twink Glennon was the high man in the scoring column with eight points. He was followed closely by Mernick and Isner with 7 and 6 respectively. Whitney had four and Ed Hughes one. Leyland was top man for Melrose with 6 points. This contest helped polish

Jefferson Club Leads Basketball League

The Jefferson Club, with four straight wins, is setting a fast pace for the teams in the Arlington Basketball League, conducted by the local Adult Recreation Program. Victories this week over the Forest A. C. and the Lyons Club gave the Jefferson Club top place in the league standing. Close on their heels, however, are the Boys' Club Juniors and the Mohawks, with three wins and one loss each. Still very much in the running are the Shamrocks and the Forest A. C. with two wins and two losses each.

High scorers for the week were Larry Fountain of the Shamrocks with 13 baskets in the game with the Panthers, and Danny O'Brien of the Jefferson Club, with 12 baskets in the game with the Forest A. C.

This Week's Results
Shamrocks 53, Panthers 26.
Feature was shooting of Fountain, with 13 baskets for 26 points, many of which were set up by good passing from Meadows.
Score at end of first half, 21-21.
Lack of substitutes so handicapped Panthers in second half that they couldn't keep up with the pace set by the Shamrocks.

Jefferson Club 43, Lyons Club 25
Boys' Club Jr. 30, Shamrocks 29
Boys' Club scored a decisive victory over the weakened Invaders after trailing in the first half, 15 to 12. In the second half the Boys' Club reserve strength asserted itself and the Invaders were overwhelmed. The Boys' Club, Jr. was materially strengthened by the addition of Luke Donahue from the first team.

Mohawks 31, Forest A. C. 30
Jefferson Club 57, Forest A. C. 30
The Jefferson Club kept its slate clean by defeating the Forest A. C. Danny O'Brien with 11 baskets for 22 points, and Phil Lionetta with 6 baskets for 12 points were the big factors in keeping the Jeffersons at the top of the league.

off the local attack. Messrs. Glennon and Isner got back into shape and they should score a great many more points before the curtain is pulled down on the '39 season.

Again the Arlington seconds were defeated. The Melrose reserves appeared to be the better passers and their win can be attributed to good teamwork. The count was 24 to 18 with King of Arlington sharing scoring honors with Virgin of the winners. Both men had five baskets to their credit.

A. H. S. Courtmen Trounce Belmont

The Arlington high basketball team completely outclassed the Belmont aggregation yesterday afternoon at the local high school. The final count was 32-20, but the score was kept down because of free substituting by Coach Bill Lowder. At several times during the battle the Red and Gray machine was clicking on all cylinders and they appeared to be anything but the club that lost to Newton the day before. Their shots were better, although there is still room for improvement, and their passes more accurate. Ed Hughes was very efficient in the latter department, setting up three or four beautiful baskets.

At the beginning the invaders took a four-point lead on baskets by Burns and Ruffer, but this was the only time Belmont was out in front. "Twinkle" Glennon tossed in a long one from the left and Isner's free throw and then George Mernick really began to go to town. He hung up eight points in the final five minutes of the first stanza. Twice Eddie Hughes set him up and the other times he spun from under the basket and scored. Arlington's other tally of this session was really a beautiful thing. Twink Glennon started up the floor and passed accurately to Hughes. Ed turned the ball over to Bill Whitney in grand fashion and the latter sank a shot while running at full speed.

Tommy Cotter opened the last period by dropping a nice basket, and Mernick rang up his final point from the foul line. After the session was half over Coach Lowder sent in his second team and, although they failed to score, they limited the first stringers from Belmont to one basket. This was scored on an angle shot by Roobyou. Lowder seemed pleased with the improved play of several of his men and it is hoped that the sick Ralph Thomas will be back in action shortly.

The Arlington seconds also came through with a win. The score of this battle was 21-11, with the locals leading after three minutes and never being caught. This victory can be mainly attributed to Connie Lyons, a product of the Boys' Club, who was high scorer with five baskets. This was only his second game and he performed with the smoothness of a veteran.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE LOSES TO NEWTON

Coach Bill Lowder's quintet suffered their initial Suburban League defeat at the hands of a strong Newton five last Tuesday afternoon at Newton, 34-24. The winners were paced by two veteran stars, Abbot and Flag, each of these lads providing the locals with lots of grief. The game was an exceedingly rough affair, with no less than twenty-five infractions of the rule-book called. Arlington was hurt more by these, Newton ringing up eight points in fifteen tries from the foul line. Ralph Thomas was missing from the Arlington lineup, and his presence was sorely needed.

This was a very serious blow to the locals' championship hopes but it does not leave them entirely out of the running. As a matter of fact, your correspondent sincerely believes that when the Newtonians journey to our town the outcome will be different. The setup at Newton varies a bit from the high school plan, and we think it may have affected their shooting. Arlington had at least twice as many shots at the hoop but most were unsuccessful.

George Mernick opened the scoring for the afternoon but his two points were the only ones Lowder's boys could muster until the close of the first period. Gehling put Newton into the lead with two baskets and his team remained out in front all the way. "Twink" Glennon swished a long one towards the eight-minute mark and the count at the rest time was Newton 11, Arlington 4.

Our boys made a futile attempt to pull the contest out of the fire during the final quarter. They had tallied five points after about two minutes but the pressure was too great and they couldn't pick up any more. Both clubs added eight points to their previous totals in this last ten minutes. Two baskets by Flag and one each by Leon and Holmes accounted for Newton's eight. Glennon got five and Whitney three for the losers.

The Newton second team also emerged on the top side of the affair, dull to watch, with neither team scoring frequently. The final tabulations said Newton 15, Arlington 13.

SEARCHLIGHT CLUB

Rabbi Beryl D. Cohon, assistant at Temple Israel, Boston, was guest speaker, Thursday afternoon, at the Searchlight club, which met at the home of Mrs. Arthur A. Lawson, 13 Ravine street.

Rabbi Cohon, who was introduced by the club president, Mrs. Charles A. Rideout, spoke most interestingly on "Outlawing the Prophets, and What Happens to Christianity," covering both ancient and modern times. In his remarks on the lives and work of the pre-Christian prophets, he pointed out their importance as a background for the Christian religion, and their unswerving devotion to their high ideals. His talk was remarkably free from bitterness and prejudice when references were made to Germany and the Jewish situation there.

Tea was served following the lecture. A voluntary offering was taken, and a considerable sum realized to be used for refugee work.

Last Friday evening, Mr. Witherell and twelve members of the Ski Club attended the Father and son banquet at the Orthodox Congregational church. The speaker was Ted Hunter, ace skier for the Dartmouth Outing club and former member of the 1936 Olympic ski team. He showed about 1600 feet of movies taken of the skiing events held in Garmisch-Partenkirchen and also his trip to Chile for summer skiing. After the movies, Mr. Hunter gave the boys a few excellent tips on skiing, especially when in competition.

Sunday, Jack French, Larry Kiehl, Dick Hanson and Don Mann went skiing in New Hampshire. No snow was to be found on Temple Mountain, so the group proceeded to New London, where they spent the remainder of the day skiing on a fine open slope.

Dr. Morse has spent thirty years in China and his talk is well worth hearing.

ROTARY CLUB

Frank B. Mehaffey, a Boston Kiwanian, representing the Air Reduction Company, addressed the Rotary Club Wednesday at the Middlesex Association Clubhouse on "Air in Industry."

The subject applied to the components of air used commercially, particularly oxygen. Most of the lecture consisted of laboratory experiments with liquid oxygen by which the speaker was graphically able to show its properties and commercial use.

Professor Floyd E. Armstrong of the economics department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak on "The Road Back," at the next meeting of the Women's Republican Club, at the American Legion Hall, at 2 o'clock, Thursday, January 26.

Robert Walker, chaplain of the Concord Reformatory, talked to the company on "What Price Polly." Further entertainment was furnished by Miss Thelma Andrews, beautiful Arlington soprano, who delighted the company with several songs. Mrs. Llewellyn M. Evans, president of the circle, presided during the business meeting. At the end of the afternoon a delicious tea was served by the hostess.

Marriages

HUGHES - FREEMAN

With a background of evergreens, two tall candelabras with white tapers, beautiful bouquets of white lilies and white carnations, there was a very lovely wedding in the chapel of the First Baptist church at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, joining in marriage Miss Phyllis Freeman, daughter of Ernest H. Freeman of 11 Lincoln street, and Arthur W. Hughes, Jr., of Lexington. The pastor of the church, Rev. Grady D. Feagan, performed the single ring service.

The bride and her attendant, Mrs. John Doane Freeman, her sister-in-law, both wore afternoon gowns of turquoise blue and Mrs. Freeman's hyacinth. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a small flowered hat of violets with matching veil and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink carnations and sweet peas. Mrs. Freeman wore a Watteau hat of black straw, and her nosegay was of purple violets.

John N. Hamm was best man, and the ushers were John D. Freeman, brother of the bride, and Freeman W. Frost, one of her cousins. Miss Marion Stewart was at the organ. The reception, which followed the ceremony was also held in the chapel.

The bride was graduated from Arlington High School in 1934, from Bradford Junior College in 1936 and from Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School in 1937. Mr. Hughes, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hughes of 75 Foster avenue, Lexington, attended Lexington High School and the Bentley School of Accounting in Boston.

After a tour of New Hampshire and enjoying the winter sports at various resorts, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will make their home at 11 Lincoln street in this town.

MACMILLIN - TROTT

Of interest to Arlingtonians was the brilliant Brookline wedding which joined in marriage Barbara Willard Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanley Wayland of Brookline, to James Otis MacMillin, son of Charles M. MacMillin and the late Mrs. MacMillin, of 95 Jackson street, at eight o'clock on Saturday evening by Rev. Dr. Ashley Day Leavitt at the Harvard Congregational church.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

With the appointment of Harry Hopkins and former Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan to the cabinet, observers have come to believe that the President is tending to the realization that if he sought a third-term nomination it would disrupt the party and make a Republican victory in 1940 inevitable. Therefore, it is reasoned, he is preparing to force upon the next Democratic convention a candidate of his own choice. Hopkins and Murphy, so the story goes, are the men he has his eyes upon. From the New Deal point of view their records are 100 percent perfect.

But there is a strong wing of the Democratic party, which is openly working to prevent New Deal domination of the next convention. To them both Hopkins and Murphy are pure poison. A great many of them feel that their candidate should come from the great farm belt, which holds the balance of power in any election. As a result it may be that when the time comes the candidate going to the convention with the strongest backing will be Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri, who has already been drummed up in national magazines, including the conservative Saturday Evening Post. Son of the late Champ Clark, the young orator's views appeal to such Democratic conservatives as Mr. Garner, and his Senate and state record are of extreme independence. On the other hand, he has not actively fought Mr. Roosevelt on most questions; so his choice would not be a direct slap at the President.

The Republicans are also casting around for a candidate, as well they might. With New York's Thomas Dewey pretty well eliminated from immediate consideration, tired Republican eyes are pretty well focused on Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, son of the late president and chief justice. Last election Mr. Taft decisively defeated the strong, New Deal-backed Senator Buckley. His brief political career has been distinguished. He has no unfortunate past connections. And he comes from a key state.

Anyway, the build-up has started, for 1940 is just around the corner.

IT COMES TO PASS

Early in the Advocate's opposition to moving Cyrus E. Dallin's Indian statue, "The Hunter," we stated that the Selectmen already had completed and approved plans for not only protecting the statue from damage and vandalism, but also for relandscaping the entire park area between Robbins Library and Robbins Memorial Town Hall. While we were not at liberty to say where the money was coming from at that time, we did drop a hint to the effect that the taxpayers would have nothing to worry about.

Now the plans we saw are about to be realized. Tool sheds have been erected on the town hall lawn, and the first shovelful of dirt was turned over last Friday.

For various reasons, full particulars on the plans must be delayed until next week. But in the meantime we would like to say again that Arlington is to be heartily congratulated on its good fortune in the fact that the Robbins family gave its devotion to this town.

The money for this project of beautification is not coming from the Robbins family, but it comes because of them. At the time Robbins Memorial Town Hall was built little more than twenty-five years ago, a friend of the family left in trust with the Robbins sisters a sum of money to be used for landscaping about the new hall. The money, however, was not then used, but instead was allowed to accumulate.

Just after the death of Miss Caira Robbins, her sister, the last surviving trustee, came to the opinion that the fund, which has now grown tremendously, should now be used for the destined purpose. Through her agent she conferred with the Board of Selectmen, secured the services of a renowned firm of landscape architects, and saw the great work started. We have seen some of the architect's sketches and will venture the opinion that before many months have passed the park area will become even more beautiful than could be believed possible.

Because he did not wish it divulged, we do not know the name of the original donor; nevertheless, our gratitude goes out to him and to the Robbins sisters, who were so faithful to their trust all these years.

PANSIES FOR THOUGHTS

(To W. H.)

By EDITH WYMAN

The thought of him shall ever be
A pansy in our memory;
Purple and gold of royal hue,
Symbolic of a friendship true,
Precious as gold, and just as warm,
With ennobling dignity its charm.

The memory's green within our heart
Of qualities which are a part
Of strength and character divine;
His love of all that's good and fine,
His gentleness, quick sympathy,
His thoughtfulness and courtesy;

And leaving all the rest, his gift
Of sweetest melodies that lift
The heart above the stress and strain
Of life, refining all its pain.
These thoughts of him shall ever be
Like pansies in our memory.

WOODCUTS

We were so busy last fall recounting Albert Wunderly's championship feats with the Arlington High School cross-country team twenty-five years ago that we almost forgot to congratulate him on his more recent triumph—his appointment to the office of assistant district attorney by Prosecutor Robert Bradford of Middlesex County. Atty. Wunderly, who is chairman of Arlington's Republican Town Committee, broke precedent and came out in strong support of Bradford against Bishop before the party primaries last fall.

Gladys Black Wilcox says that she will come down and murder someone in the Advocate office if we don't stop giving the impression that her new play, which the Friends of the Drama will produce next month, is already practically sold for Broadway production. She wishes to assure the public that such is not the case. But inasmuch as Mrs. Wilcox is obviously not the murdering type, we'll take a chance and predict that the play will be sold just the same.

The Arlington Girl Scouts are putting on a big show in town hall on Lincoln's birthday to help raise money for a permanent summer camp. In a note informing us of that fact the correspondent described the program which will include a concert by the 110th Cavalry Band and the Girl Scout bugle and drum corps. Then she wrote, "Supporting the two bands will be Miriam Hendrick Cahalin, reader."

At a recent dinner held by the Simplex Wire and Cable Company, Selectman Ernest W. Davis, a member of that organization, was scheduled as one of the several speakers. The first speaker met with considerable embarrassment and annoyance when the stand on the rostrum refused to remain steady enough to hold his several papers. The sweating second and third speakers met with similar difficulties, but before he even acknowledged his introduction Mr. Davis, the fourth speaker, whipped a screw driver from the pocket of his tuxedo and calmly tightened the delinquent screw.

As Jack Winner was climbing the stairs to attend a meeting of the 76 Club in the Parker House the other day, he noticed a very attractive young lady coming down. Naturally he turned to watch her after she had passed him and was doing just that when she suddenly stopped further down and with a look of tragic consternation began to climb back with her open bag in her hand searching each step as she came.

When we first heard the story we thought of course that here was the point where Mr. Winner would be accused by the now hysterical female of being a pickpocket. But no, she simply passed him by, and Mr. Winner continued down the stairs. He was violently arrested, however, by the sight of a wad of bills on the bottom step. He picked them up, of course, and by tremendous exercise of will forced his lagging legs to leap up the stairs in pursuit of the damsel in distress. After tearfully counting the bills and finding the sixty-one dollars intact, the lady was duly profuse in her thanks, although she did not offer to split the swag, and that, according to Mr. Winner's own account, is the end of the story.

Ed Center says that he would have done exactly the same thing that Winner did, only he wouldn't have lied about it.

When we saw work start on the re-landscaping of the town hall park last Friday, we were not prepared to state just what was going on, but we were certain of one thing. Those men vigorously swinging picks and sledges were positively not employed by the W. P. A.

That master bluffer Hitler will cost us billions for preparedness before he is through pawing the ground.

—On the committee in charge of a fraternity tea held last Friday afternoon at the Pan-Hellenic House of Boston University was Miss Mary Bradford of this town, member of Alpha Phi.

The conference between Chamberlain and Mussolini ends with a stalemate. They reaffirm their intention to develop existing friendly relations. A real victory for Chamberlain; he didn't give Mussolini anything!

Pope Pius receives Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and presents gold medals to each.

Secretary Hull appeals to aircraft manufacturers to refrain from selling to Japan as a patriotic duty. All but one comply.

Oliver J. Britain supports France against any Italian territorial demands. Hitler advises Mussolini to postpone war for one year.

President Roosevelt asks Congress to increase regular defense budget of $250,000,000 to $552,000,000. He would double our air defense. London cheers—remember the chestnuts Anthony Eden mentioned? Berlin scoffs and says it is "a special train to rush Roosevelt into his third presidential term—an armament locomotive with a job-creating tender attached."

Conservative Democrats and Republicans cut the President's relief recommendations. He warns he won't play in their back yard if Democrats turn conservative.

Paul Mallon finds living conditions in Russia today, lower than under the Czar and worse than in Germany. Wage increase since the Czar up to 431 percent, but food prices up 1650 percent; clothing up 2240 percent, and workers enslaved. One Russian out of every 85,000 has an automobile. Mallon does not agree with President Roosevelt that dictator nations rival the United States.

New England senators select Senator Walsh to frame a new flood control plan which the President would be willing to submit to Congress in a special message. The fly in the ointment is really government power control. Senator Rankin asserts that the power trust of New England is behind Governor Aiken's urge for states' rights.

For the bombing of several power plants and water stations in England, Scotland Yard blames the outlawed Irish Republican army. A way of saying "England, get out of Ulster."

Sir Richard Saltonstall, an ancestor of the governor, one of the founders of Watertown in 1630, no doubt had a voice in naming the town. Says the governor, "I think I would be derelict in my duty if I approved of such a change." (Proposal to change the name of the town from Watertown to Saltonstall.)

Curfew shall ring in Cambridge tonight—at 9:30. An effort to reduce juvenile delinquency.

GOLDEN MEDITATION

By MABEL VAN SICLEN LENK

How true! as time progresses
We reflect back thoughtfully
To the golden days of childhood
Long instilled in memory;
Many stories we remember
Starting "Once upon a time"
And our treasured prized possessions
Were the favorite books of rhyme.

When life was young and mellow
We preferred maturity
Much we envied brilliant knowledge
And the world we longed to see,
Off we heard our parents quote
"Children should be seen not heard"
To us this phrase important
Then seemed rude and quite absurd.

Too soon! we all are counting
Milestones father time has made
Youth and years too quickly vanish
Few short ten made a decade;
Childhood tales of fun and pleasure
Escapades and little fears
We relate now to our children
Some with laughter—some with tears.

IN 1874 Sixty-Five Years Ago This Week

We regret to say that the issue of 65 years ago this week has been cut from the bound volume at the library and is no longer available for reference.—Ed.

IN 1880 Fifty Years Ago This Week

The electric light company has been running an extra wire the past week for the benefit of the local service. This line has been attached to an extra dynamo, which will insure a greater and steadier volume of light in the future. The current for the incandescent and arc lights are now separate.

Few matters of a nearly private nature have occasioned the discussion and unfavorable comment provoked by the reading of the will of the late Dea. Henry Mott. By its provisions the town receives $5,000, a like sum is devoted to missions, $1,000 goes to his executor, while those who were supposed to be like children to him (this was a childless home) are cut off with a paltry $200 each. In one sense a man has a right to do as he pleases with his money, but there is scant justice when a man possessed of ample means fosters anticipations only to disappoint and make no provision for those who had a right to look to him for an approach to parental affection.

One after another the men who were prominent in public affairs a few years ago are passing away, this week adding another to the quite long list of deaths of this kind within a year. This week we chronicle the death of Mr. John Fillebrown, one of the highly successful of our garden farmers, at the age of 77 years. In early life he was employed in the card factory here, but when that business failed, like several others in the same employ, he turned to the more fortunate venture.

Wm. T. Wood & Co. has just turned out what must be the very last word in ice plows. This one, a monster of its kind, has been designed and built for the Arctic Ice Co., Winnipeg, Manitoba, and will cut a furrow two feet deep. Manufactured under the supervision of Mr. Cyrus Wood, it does not seem unwieldy in spite of its unusual size, but is rather a marvel of strength and lightness.

The "Original Smith Family" appeared in due form on Wednesday evening before an audience which filled the vestry of the Universalist church. The "family" consisted of Mrs. Russell, Miss Carrie Higgins, Miss Ella Ronco, Miss Nellie Mars-ton and Messrs. Holt, Pattee, Cutter and Turner. A large canvas had been stretched across the stage and painted with figures of the most amusing proportions. Incisions had been made in the canvas for the faces and hands of those taking part and nothing could be more ridiculous than the result.

IN 1914 Twenty-Five Years Ago This Week

A friend drove his car out from Boston Monday evening, from the head of the common to Pleasant street in fifteen minutes. He was not racing with the wind but trying to keep an appointment, in which he was successful.

At the annual meeting and election of officers of the Arlington Police Relief Association last week, Patrolman F. Joseph Cahalin was elected president; Patrolman Felix Lopez, vice-president; Lieut. Daniel M. Hooley, secretary; Chief Thomas O. D. Urquhart, treasurer; Sgt. John Duffy, Patrolman Albert Duffy, Andrew Irwin, T. Arthur Nolan and Theodore R. Belyea, directors; Edwin C. Jacobs, George Wooley and Felix Lopez, auditors.

The ice boats owned by Elliot Perkins and Kenneth Reed have been in commission on Spy Pond since the ice season began, and have provided great entertainment not only to their owners but to the throngs of skaters who throng to the pond every pleasant day. Monday, in the high gale, their speed was not a bit less than terrific.

One day off in fifteen has been granted the patrolmen of the Police Dept.

With the wind blowing some 50 miles an hour on Spy Pond Monday, the Arlington High hockey team scored a 1 to 0 victory over Cambridge High and Latin. Mansell shot the winning goal in the second half by skating through the entire Cambridge team, and in and out of the throng of spectators watching the game. Fred Percy also starred for the home team.

Monday succeeded in being the most disagreeable day of the season, not so much owing to the wind, which blew at near whole gale velocity, but to the blinding dust clouds which followed. Can nothing be done to lay the dust in the winter time?

IN 1920

Ten Years Ago This Week

Selectmen and Chamber of Commerce make drive for better car service to Arlington. Advocate calls El's offer "Taxation without Transportation."

Town spends $35,000 under jurisdiction of Public Welfare Department during 1928. Selectmen believe there should be a qualified agent to handle this work, involving such large sums.

Miss Isabelle Souster is elected to Honor Court of Oberlin College.

Orthodox Congregational church raises minister's salary to $4,500 plus parsonage, at annual meeting.

Middlesex Sportsman's Association presents "The Aeroplanes Girl" to big town hall audiences. Carey Pridham, a real aviator, and Ann Fellows Pridham in leading roles. Others in cast: Kenneth McLeod, Wm. C. Watson, Warren Lindberg, Brad Swift, Edith Yeager, Miss Lawlor, Gertrude Irwin, Barbara Cathcart, Dorothy Allen, Frances Pike, Elizabeth Lombard, Phyllis Blake.

Mr. Sawyer Agrees "You Can't Dodge It"

Dear Editor:
Your editorials of January 5th and January 12th regarding taxation and public spending are worthy of thoughtful reading and serious consideration by all. "You can't dodge taxation" is an absolutely true statement whether it be made to a home owner, a rent payer or even a roomer.

If a person paying rent remembered that at least 25% of his rent was tax money perhaps he would be as anxious as the man who is called the owner is, that his tax bill be kept down to a reasonable level.

If every person earning salary or wages could be made to realize that nearly one third of his total earnings went to pay costs and wastes of government, and the debt still growing, he would, it seems to me, take a more serious view of this enormous public spending. A halt can only be called when, as you say, "the public wills it."

A sales tax or something similar, even though it be a most unjust and unfair form of tax, may be the only way the general public can be made to realize that wasteful and unnecessary spending must be curtailed or general bankruptcy both public and private will occur. I hope, however, we do not have to come to that.

This spending can be stopped whenever the public becomes sufficiently aroused to demand it and the politicians are made to realize that the voters mean business.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES M. SAWYER.

Urges Re-election of Town Treasurer

To the Editor:
I have been a resident of the Town of Arlington for fifty years and have seen it grow from a small community to its present high estate in population and wealth. My children have been educated here. My three boys went to the World War from here as did 1,000 or more other boys from Arlington. And on the whole this Town of Arlington has been a wisely-governed town.

In all this time I have known Charles A. Hardy, who has been Town Treasurer for 18 years. I have known him as a man of the highest integrity. He and I may have differed at times on political matters, but that is a good old American custom. However, there has never been a time when I did not have the greatest respect for him as a man and for his ability as Town Treasurer. He has conducted that office through some trying times—especially the past 10 years—with honor and dignity.

The office of Town Treasurer is an elective one in the State and there is no age limit when an office is elective. In the case of Town Treasurer, other things being equal, both age and experience are valuable assets to the Town. So why permit Mr. Hardy, who is able and willing to serve in the office he has filled so successfully—why permit him to retire just because he is 70 years of age?

The keystone of town government in Massachusetts is the office of treasurer. In a town the size of Arlington it is an office of great responsibility. Mr. Hardy has been responsible for its conduct for 18 years. He has given complete satisfaction.

With all due respect to his opposition for the office I do not see the slightest necessity for a change. Mr. Hardy has steered the finances of the Town for nearly two decades. Why change pilots now?

A. J. PHILPOTT,
260 Massachusetts Ave.

Dear Old Friend

This very gratifying note was received this week from Miss Ida F. Robbins, the last of the Robbins sisters who have done so much for this town. Miss Ida's address is now La Colline, Territet-Montreux, France.

To the Editors
Enclosed please find cheque of my subscription to the "Advocate" for this year. It was to my sister, and it is to me, like a weekly letter from a dear old friend.

With kindest remembrances,
Sincerely yours,
IDA F. ROBBINS.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 22.
The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32: 3, 4).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people" (Matthew 4:23).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The question, What is Truth, is answered by demonstration,—by healing both disease and sin; and this demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men... Truth is affirmative, and confers harmony" (pp. viii; 418).

DR. STRONG SPEAKS ON HEART DISEASE TO CROSBY P. T. A.

—no other cure possible.

"The heart is a pump, pure and simple, with four chambers, two right and two left, connected by valves which open and shut. If anything prevents a valve from closing, that is heart disease and is incurable. When the lower left chamber contracts to send its quota of blood over the whole body, if the valve is partly open, the body receives only a portion, the rest goes back through the partly open valve, back to the upper chamber.

"Two things occur: the body gets less blood—the on-coming supply from the upper chamber is partially blocked by the back flow, and so the heart is embarrassed, has to work harder—the patient gets weak, and feels oppression in chest and throbbing of neck vessels.

"Our only treatment is based on lessening the load, and the exertion on the heart, also food restrictions. If the three little cords which open and shut the valves of the heart are shortened, they cannot close. Many times, the cause of this shortening is rheumatism.

"What causes rheumatism? Any infection in the body may cause it—intestines, gall bladder, sinus, teeth, tonsils.

Tonsils in children account for 90% of heart trouble and if we are going to use the cure of prevention, youth is the time.

"Is the removal of tonsils dangerous? Is it necessary? Why should children be subjected to this operation? The answer is to prevent heart disease.

"Is it best to allow your girl or boy to grow up with his or her tonsils? Yes, if they are normal. Absolutely no, if he or she has sore throats. This condition is a decided threat which cannot be ignored. You want your child to grow up to be an asset, not a liability.

"Every school doctor sends home a report of diseased tonsils. Why? In Canada, the celebrated Quintuplets are under the care of a group of celebrated doctors chosen by the Government and they removed the tonsils and adenoids of all five girls recently. The Government will not take a chance—why should you?"

Rev. Mark Starts Series on Religion in Literature

Rev. John N. Mark gave the first of a series of three lectures to the Women's Alliance in the Unitarian church vestry last Monday morning. Mr. Mark has chosen as his subject, "Religion in Modern Literature" and this week's lecture dealt principally with the English authors.

Immediately following the lecture, a delicious luncheon was served, after which many of the women remained for sewing.

Put On Unique Ad For Theatrical Ball

The regular monthly meeting of the Arlington Friends of the Drama in the clubhouse Sunday afternoon was featured by the singing of Miss Ruth Olive of this town and the staging of a unique advertisement for the annual theatrical ball which will be given by the club at Robbins Memorial Town Hall on February 10.

Barbara Llewellyn succeeded in gathering several costumes from former theatrical balls, and these were modeled with very striking effect on the stage last Sunday. The lighting effects were by Malcolm Stewart, who had previously given an exhaustive report on the voice classes he is conducting at the club, and the models were Louise Hall in a red costume designed for his Satanic Majesty's sister; Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Sisson, representing the drama itself; Barbara Givern in a Persian costume; Joan Fowler, in a colorful skating rig; Florence Llewellyn in a grotesque mask; Barbara Llewellyn in a beautiful peasant costume with enormous headdress; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick in breath-taking Egyptian royal regalia; Muriel Moran in a colorful costume made to represent "sin".

Before the very delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Stanley Coleman and her committee, Miss Olive entertained the large company with a group of lovely songs.

Serving with Mrs. Coleman were Dorothy Cook, Betty Hamlet, Ruby Clifford and Katherine Hart.

munism, of his aim to part democratic nations.

He saw hope in Chamberlain's improved technique, as witnessed when he recently met Mussolini with a stiffer back bone.

The speaker saw hope in the action of the United States which "has contributed more than any other nation." Our Lima conference, our loan to China, our note to Japan refusing to recognize the new order and reminding Japan that treaties may be terminated only through mutual agreement, setting an example to England which she has followed.

The speaker closed with the statement: "We, the strongest nation in the world, may yet lead the world out of chaos."

A lively question period followed. These international reviews by Professor de Haas are under the school department of Americanization, with Miss Martha Schaefer as director. The public should encourage them.

Institute held in Arlington all day Wednesday, January 18. The functions and duties of a Girl Scout local council, which is the sponsoring group of adults in each community, and the program, personnel, and administrative techniques of the national organization were discussed in a series of group meetings held in the Junior Library hall of the Robbins Library.

Miss Ruth Stevens of Boston, executive director of girl scouting in the New England states, and Miss Frances Lee of New York city, education consultant on the Girl Scout national staff, participated in the institute program. Miss Lee, formerly principal of the Lee School for Girls in Boston, served as president for two terms on the board of directors of the Headquarters Association of the East, and is now an honorary member of this organization. She was a trustee of Radcliffe College for six years, and is one of the authors of "The Education of Girls" published by Houghton and Mifflin.

Mrs. James Matthews of Wellesley, member of the Girl Scout New England regional committee, and the following women who are active in the movement, took part in the institute discussions: Mrs. Fred W. Greer of Belmont; Mrs. Clifford Gleason of Arlington; Mrs. Harold Farnsworth of Winchester, commissioners, and Mrs. H. B. Blackmer, chairman of the program committee of the Malden Girl Scout Council.

Past Presidents Guests of Women's Fellowship

On Monday evening, the 16th, the Women's Fellowship of the First Baptist church held its regular meeting. It was a distinct honor to have as specially invited guests the past presidents of the Women's Union: Mrs. Joseph Wyman, who at eighty years of age is the oldest living ex-president; Mrs. Maude Munroe, who was president for fifteen years; Mrs. Charlotte Gilmour, Mrs. Edith Wyman, Mrs. Lottie Smith, Mrs. Alison Stevens, Mrs. Alice Wallace, and Mrs. Ethel Perry, who heads the union at present. The active leadership of these ladies over a period of years has contributed much of value to the church, and the fellowship is proud to have them in its membership.

Harry Krueger was generous in his playing of the piano. He chose Rondo Capriccioso by Mendelssohn; Lotus Land by Cyril Scott, and Waltz B flat by Chopin, a program which proved to be most acceptable to his audience.

On account of illness among members of the cast, the dramatization which had been planned could not be presented. However, a brief outline of Judson's life was given by Mrs. Leota Feagan, after which a series of colored pictures illustrating the life and activities of Adoniram Judson was shown, the accompanying explanations being read by Miss Caroline Higgins. Following this, all of those present joined in singing special verses written by Mrs. Edith Wyman for the occasion, to the air of "Mandalay." A social hour accompanied by delicious refreshments completed the evening.

Including new members introduced at this meeting, the total has now reached 240, a gratifying growth.
